

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

for the International Council for Coaching Excellence (ICCE) Research Committee

The ICCE Research Committee acts in an advisory capacity to the ICCE Board with respect to coaching research interests. It acts as a champion for community building through ICCE membership of coaching researchers internationally. These broad goals are accomplished through the following objectives:

- Objective i: Advise on ICCE related programmes and research
Engagement in, and consultation with, the ICCE board on the development and delivery of ICCE related research and the formation of working groups/special interest groups.
- Objective ii: Support the research and applied agenda within ICCE events
Supporting the ICCE's research and applied agendas and initiatives at ICCE events such as the ICCE Global Coach Conference and regional events.
- Objective iii: Support the International Sport Coaching Journal
Supporting the International Sport Coaching Journal by promoting reach and engagement globally.
- Objective iv: Connect coaching researchers through coaching research advocacy
Facilitating connections to other coaching research communities and individuals, including new researchers, students, and others.

The ICCE Research Committee is seeking four new members to serve a four-year term (2021-2025).

Information regarding who are the actual members and the Terms of Reference of the ICCE Research Committee can be found at <http://www.icce.ws/about-us/icce-committees.html>

Applications are encouraged from sport coaching colleagues from Africa, Asia, and Latin America and from earlier career academics.

Applications should include:

- Applicant's name and title
- Contact information (email; phone)
- 2-page CV: a brief educational history, current employment, a brief summary of their relevant recent accomplishments (research or others)
- Name of two referees
- Briefly outline your proposed contribution to the ICCE Research Committee

Please submit all application electronically by October 22nd 2021 to:

Prof. Julian North (j.north@leedsbeckett.ac.uk)

Yours sincerely

Interim Chair on behalf of the ICCE Research Committee.
